She was so terrified that she rushed headlong to an open window, and threw herself into the street. She was picked up by several of the neighbors, and the flames smothered. As she jumped from a second story window, it is a wonder she was not killed instantly. As it was, she was considerably bruised and burned.

When John Hopper, a member of the Society of Friends, met a boy with a dirty face or hands, he would stop him, and inquire if he ever studied chemistry. The boy, with a wondering stare, would answer "No." "Well, then, I will teach thee how to perform a curious chemical experiment," said Friend Hopper. "Go home, take a piece of soap, put it in water, and rub it briskly on thy hands and face. Thou hast no idea what a beautiful froth it will make, and how much whiter thy skin will be. That's a chemical experiment I advise thee to try it."

Columbus Delano, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in a recent speech, says that when the rebels laid down their arms, the ascertained and audited debt of the United States was twenty-seven hundred millions of dollars. The army was then unpaid for a period of from one to two years, and more than eight hundred millions, not included in the audited debt, were due them. Now, within a little more than four years the whole of this floating debt of eight hundred millions has been paid off, and the ascertained debt has been reduced to twenty-four hundred millions of dollars. In other words, eleven hundred millions of dollars of debt have actually been paid off in four years; nearly one-third of the entire indebtedness of the nation at the close of the war.

A young gentleman living in Kingston went to see his girl the other night, and when he started for home, the night being dark, his innamorata gave him a red paper lantern with which to light his lonely way. He took the railroad track as being the shortest route to his home, and was walking leisurely along, his mind no doubt filled with agreeable thoughts of the fair one he had just left when suddenly his reverie was brought to an end by some one in the rear, who gave the Chinese lantern a kick, which sent it flying. "Confound you," said the person from behind, "here I've been slowing my train for the last two hours on account of that red light." And looking behind him the young man saw a freight train, and it was the engineer who had disturbed his meditations.

A man in Tennessee lately bought a bottle of cherry brandy, and after using it threw the cherry pits in the yard, when the chickens stowed them away in their crops. His wife going out soon after, saw the chickens lying around the yard apparently dead, and told an old negro woman that she might pick the feathers off them for her bed, which she immediately did. The surprise of the lady may be imagined when, the next morning at early dawn, she heard old chancier delivering his usual morning salute, and she henceforth as though nothing had happened. "A funny sight it was, on looking out to see a rooster and a cocker, young and old, marching around, eyeing each other with suspicious looks, many of them entirely naked, while only a few had wings and tail feathers. The cherry pits had made them bald."

John Miller, of Jefferson, aged twenty-six years, returning from Lancaster, Friday evening, Sept. 23, came to his death in a shocking manner. On his way home he stopped at the Waumbek, where he was observed that he was badly intoxicated. He was riding on a light skeleton gig about a mile from the hotel, on the road toward the meadow. The gig entered a mud hole, when Miller's legs slipped through the iron braces made a run for the feet and his body fell over the side of the gig, his head close to the horse's heels, about a mile, finally stopping at his horse's front end. The unfortunate man had fallen over his head and dropped off his skull, which was badly fractured and completely separated where the horses' feet had hit it, and one hand, which dragged was lacerated. Miller lived about twenty-four hours, but was finally relieved.

THE GARRATTVILLE FAIR.—Last Thursday was a proud day for Garrattsville. The day was one of Nature's best, the crowd in attendance was large, the show an average one. The ladies department was well filled and presented many fine things, doing the women of the Society credit. Of course there are many fine and useful things to be seen at these Fairs, but the crowds which attend them are more attractive to our eyes than the articles on exhibition, though we don't mean to depreciate the latter. Nowhere else, except on his native hillside, is the genus countryman seen in such full blown rusticity as at these gatherings. In all classes are to be seen here—the sturdy farmer, the man of trade, the manufacturer, the thoughtful inventor, the inquisitive searcher after knowledge—all are here, intent upon their own particular interest; while another class will outnumber them all—those who have no particular interest to look after, but are simply present because there is something to be seen, an excitement to be experienced, and perhaps a little fun to be enjoyed. This class, of course, is hugely interested in the trotting and running of horses, (which now-a-days forms the most attractive part of all Agricultural Fairs.) The ladies, too, were well represented, and full as varied in their style and taste as their coarser brethren. They, however, except comparatively few, have but little pecuniary interest in the exhibition, and merely go to be seen and be seen, and they were full as numerous as the rougher sex.

Take it "in all its various aspects and ramifications" the Fair at Garrattsville, this year, was a success, which speaks well for its officers and managers.

We noticed on the ground a revolving chimney cap, the invention of L. N. Chapin of New Lisbon, which, to our mind, is exactly the thing needed. The inventor has gotten up an instrument which not only keeps the wind from blowing down the chimney, but also rain and snow. It is simply constructed but a very useful invention, and excels all other caps we ever saw.

J. C. Hollister had on exhibition his famous Norway Oats, and they attracted considerable attention. He also had specimens of the Lima Bean which were very nice, but his show of Tomatoes were the finest we ever saw. Mr. H. is a good farmer and takes a good deal of pride in bringing from the mother earth the best kinds of crops.

Wm. Nearing had on exhibition a fine collection of fruit: apples, several varieties of pears, blums and grapes, of his own raising; showing, that if the town of New Lisbon does lay 1400 feet higher than most towns, good fruit and crops can be raised on her soil.

There were quite a large number of articles on exhibition in the building which are worthy of notice, but failing to obtain the names of the exhibitors, we are not able to mention them.

There was a very good show of horses, but the horse that attracted the most attention was the Hambletonian colt, exhibited by J. W. Dunbar, of Laurens, which received the first premium. For build, action and step, he excelled any other horse on the ground. He is a most graceful stepper, has good strong limbs and knows how to use them, and has the speed in him that will make him one of the most powerful going horses of the period.

As the cattle had been all taken off the ground at the close of the first day, (which should not be allowed,) we did not see them, consequently are unable to speak of them, but are told that it was an average show.

The Garrattsville Cornet Band acquitted themselves nobly and furnished lots of music, which added much to the enjoyment of those present.

FOR LIFE.—Green, the wife poisoner, who it will be remembered, travelled through this county a few years ago, as a Southern refugee, and created considerable sympathy for himself, has had a new trial and found guilty of murder in the second degree, and taken to State Prison, where he is sentenced for life. On his former trial he was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

FOR TRIAL.—The trial of Elisha B. Fero for the murder of his wife, has been closed. The case was given to the jury last Friday, who were out some two hours, and brought in not guilty. This case has caused considerable interest in Delaware and the eastern part of this county. The murderer of Mrs. Fero is yet at large. We hope the guilty wretch will be brought to justice and that speedily.

CONVENTION.—The Democratic Convention for the Second District will held at the hotel of Richmond & Fitch in Laurens, Saturday October 16th, to nominate a Member of Assembly and a School Commissioner.

—The Republican Second Assembly District Convention will be held at the hotel of Richmond & Fitch in Laurens, on Tuesday October 12th, to nominate a Member of Assembly and a School Commissioner.

HOPS.—Hops are coming in now quite freely. They are of a good quality, generally bought up our dealers who pay from 10 to 15c. It is only a first-rate article that commands the last price.—Rep. & Dem.

E. E. and W. Pattengill, of New Lisbon, sowed 32 pounds of Norway oats on 96 rods of ground, and the yield was at the rate of 115 bushels of 32 pounds each to the acre. They have specimen heads 23 inches in length and have counted 276 grains on a single head.

The annual meeting of Otsego County Bible Society will be held at the M. E. Church, Oneonta, Thursday, October 7th, at 2 o'clock, P. M., Rev. J. E. King, of Fort Edward, will deliver an address in the evening. All are invited.

Mr. Hiram Phillips, last week, shot a White Hawk on the land of P. L. Dorwin, Esq., in South Worcester, measuring five feet from tip to tip of the wings. The hawk had been prowling about in that vicinity for two years, making occasional havoc among the poultry.—Schenectoes Monitor.

Says the Rep. & Dem. of Oct. 2d: Since our last issue Death has been busy among our older citizens. Last Thursday Judge Kinne was "gathered in;" on Saturday, James Cox, and on Monday of this week Miss V. S. Potter, and Mrs. Polly Williams. The united ages of the four reach upwards of 310 years.

The new steamer for Otsego Lake was placed on sleds and drawn through the streets of Cooperstown a few days since by three yoke of oxen, two span of horses and forty men, flanked by all the boys in the village, and waved on the way by all the handkerchiefs in the place. She weighs about eight tons. The strange procession caused quite a sensation. The streets were fortunately very muddy.

COUNTY LODGE, I. O. of G. T.—The Seventh Quarterly Session of Otsego county Lodge I. O. of G. T., will be held with the Otsego Lodge, at Fly Creek, on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 19, and 20. The election of officers for the ensuing year will take place at this session, and it is hoped that every Lodge in the County will be represented. A public meeting will be held in the evening of the 19th, and addresses from prominent and eloquent members of the Order may be expected, and essays from sisters Mrs. M. A. Holt and Lay. Entertainment for all Good Templars will be furnished by Otsego Lodge. Let us have a grand rally and a good time.

Sept. 29th, 1869. C. A. BOWNE, W. C. T., of County Lodge. H. S. MATTESON, Sec'y of Co. Lodge.

DEATH OF JUDGE KINNE.—The announcement on the street last Thursday morning, that Hiram Kinne was found dead in his bed, created a feeling of profound sorrow in this village. He had returned from a business trip to Massachusetts the evening previous, and though complaining somewhat of fatigue on retiring to bed, appeared to be in usual health and good spirits. Still, his sudden death did not greatly surprise his friends, for they knew how much he had suffered for years past from ill health, which had gradually weakened his constitution. Without further sickness or suffering, he passed quietly away. Judge Kinne was from his early manhood a "public man." He was one of the best Judges of the Court of Common Pleas who ever sat on the Bench of Otsego county. As Surrogate, for two terms, he gave great satisfaction. For over twenty years he acted as Justice of the Peace— which office he held at the time of his death. In 1833 he had a seat in the Assembly of this State. He was a well-read man, and his views on public matters were always sound. In politics he was a Democrat of the old school. Personally Judge Kinne was popular with all classes—for he was by nature unselfish, obliging, kind-hearted and liberal. Though alone in the world, he was cheerful and social in disposition. The poor have lost in him one of their best friends; the afflicted and troubled one whose sympathies were always alive to their wants and necessities. After funeral services in the Presbyterian church on Saturday, his remains were taken to Butternuts for interment.—Freeman's Journal.

We understand that the barn was set a fire, and that two men (railroaders) were lodged in jail charged with setting the fire.
