

Frank Rock seal picked for centennial plates

MORRIS — Morris Centennial seal contest judges have picked the design submitted by Frank Rock as the seal to be used as the center of the Centennial souvenir plate.

Rock was one of three winners in the contest, taking top money in the contest over D. J. Campfield, second, and Linda Young, third. Students Grade 5-12 from Morris Central School participated in the contest with 33 designs entered.

The contributions were shown at the school lobby for one day and then were placed on exhibition at Kenyon Free Library where they have been shown in the window.

In other activities by the approximately 50 people who attended the first Centennial meeting, George Hooper of Albany, a consultant who will meet once a month with the group, explained and then auctioned ten participation shares in the event.

Share No. 1 was purchased by John Whitman with others bought by Ray Clement, Richard Campfield, Warren Rytter, Alma Elliott, Warren Kinney, Lester Wright, Lynn Harris, Marcia Rehman and Margaret Burrough.

Charles and Mabel Miller, chairmen of the share volunteers, will see participation shares beginning on Wednesday, April 15.

In other areas, the group learned that the souvenir Centennial Book has gone to press and orders are being taken for which prospective purchasers may call Joyce Fouts at 263-5137; a Post Office cancellation stamp has been bought for outgoing mail to carry the message of the forthcoming Centennial, and Men's Participation Night has been scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, April 23, at the Town House with Ray Clement and William Stowell in charge.

Choral group plans concert

COOPERSTOWN — The Cooperstown Community Choral Group will hold a Spring Concert of modern music Saturday, April 18, at 8 p.m., in the Cooperstown High School Auditorium.

The group of 25 voices, will sing a program of current popular songs in an informal presentation under the direction of Mr. Gerald R. Leonard.
