THE SETTLEMENT OF MORRIS, TOWN OF BUTTERNUTS,
Otsego County, N. Y.

Frontiersmen of New York--Jeptha R. Simms

Vol. I, Page 198

"In 1773, several settlers struck off into the wilderness 10 or 12 miles from Laurens, at the present village of Morris, in the town of Butternuts. The first settlers here were Ebenezer Knapp and Benjamin Lull. The latter had five sons nearly grown up at this time, named Benjamin, Joseph, Nathan, Caleb and William; four of whom stood plump six feet in their shoes. Knapp had only one son and four daughters: Rachel, Jerusha, Elizabeth and Martha; who were nearly grown to womanhood. Eastwood Allen, a New Jersey Quaker, settled nearly equi-distant from Mayall and Lull, about the time the latter moved in, and, believed, several years before other adventurers came in, whose names are now forgotten.

In 1776 the first marriage took place in Morris; the happy pair were Joseph Lull and Martha Knapp. The groom was nearly 20 and the bride a little under 14 years of age. At the beginning of border troubles, in 1777, Allen was among those who temporarily abandoned their forest homes, but the Knapp and Lull families resolved to remain, and for two summers longer braved the dangers of their abode, being obliged alternately to entertain whigs and tories, or the emissaries of the latter. I am not aware that any unusual inconvenience was experienced by the settlers on Butternut Creek on account of the war, until the fall of 1778. Then, as appears by an obituary newspaper notice of the death of Mrs. Martha Lull, which took place January 6, 1851, the Lull family had a corn husking, in the midst of which fourteen Oneida Indians came there. Although armed--as indeed, everybody then was who could be--they declared themselves friendly, and no fear was entertained on account of their visit. They joined earnestly in the labor of the evening, partook bountifully of the collation which followed--a closing ceremony from time immemorial--and posting two of their number as sentinels, they laid down on the husks to sleep. As it was well known to the friends of liberty, that no settlers would be allowed to remain exposed to the clemency of the enemy, who would not feed them and furnish them desired information, the settlers on the Butternut Creek were looked upon with suspicion by their more patriotic countrymen, as the sequel of this husking will show.

Sometime in the night a messenger announced at Lull's that a party of Continentals were approaching, and a moment after a shrill whistle near the door echoed through the night air, which brought in the red sentinels. In a brief space of time, the dwellings of Lull and Knapp were surrounded by armed men, and their male members made prisoners and hurried off to Cherry Valley. The scene was one of terror to Martha, the young bride, who then not only had an infant child in her arms, but was cumbered with the care of two motherless children of her husband's brother Benjamin. She earnestly inquired of the Indians what would be the fate of the prisoners, her husband being among them, but learned nothing except that their lives would probably be spared. The women and children were not molested, nor were their dwellings plundered.

At the time of this eventful husking, the younger Knapp, Martha's brother, had gone on some errand to Albany. Returning a day or two after and learning at Cherry Valley the condition of things, he went down with three horses and conveyed his sister and other friends yet in the settlement to that place, the road much of the way being designated by marked trees. After a brief detention in Cherry Valley, Joseph Lull was set at liberty, and early on the morning that place was so effectually destroyed, he and his family had started to go to Dutchess county--hearing the alarm gun at the fort when only four miles from it. It is presumed the other settlers on Butternut Creek, did not return to their forest home to remain, until peace and social order were restored."

YOUR ANCESTORS

ANNOUNCEMENT

With this issue we are presenting new features which we hope will be of interest to the readers of YOUR ANCESTORS. One of these is of a non-professional nature, but one that has been repeatedly asked for over a considerable period, and we realize there is a possible need for it. "Personals" will follow the Query Section. The other, the Classified Section.

For the new subscriber it may be well to state that the family genealogies appearing in YOUR ANCESTORS are partly the contribution of subscribers and partly the compilations of your editor and have been presented in a serial form. If you are interested in a certain family that is appearing in the magazine it is suggested that you extract the sheets and build up your own genealogy. We welcome an exchange of data and any additional material that will augment that which we already have in our files e. g. a subscriber wrote in asking for data on the ancestry of her Revolutionary War ancestor which we furnished and in return we received the descendants which we did not have.

We are sorry for the delay for this issue but due to printing difficulties which are being overcome we hope in the future it will be avoided. The editor wishes to express his appreciation for your kind patience and indulgence.

Cemetery Inscriptions

OLD SWEET BURYING GROUND, NORTH SCRIBA, OSWEGO COUNTY, NEW YORK STATE

THIS is one of the oldest cemeteries in the town, and it contains the graves of many of the Scriba pioneers, whose descendants are scattered all over the United States. Most of the stones are in fairly good condition and are quite legible. There are dozens of unmarked graves, however, and several graves are marked with plain, flat fieldstones. There are only two or three recent burials, without markings.

(Note: This compilation was made in 1938, before many of the stones became buried and the cemetery almost completely overgrown with brush).

The cemetery is located on a dirt road that is called the "Middle Road", about a mile and a half west of the main highway between the State Road and the village of Lycoming, New York.

Tax List for Town of DANUBE, HERKIMER County, State of NEW YORK, for 1859...

THE original record book from which this tax list was copied is in the possession of Margaret C. Schiff. The columns following the names are headed: "No. of Acres of Land, Description and Remarks, Valuation of Real Property, Corrected Valuation of Real Property, Valuation of Personal Property, Total of Real and Personal Property, Amount of Tax in Dolls. and Cts."

Taxes ranged from 19¢ on Mariah Blunt's 1/2 acre, to $139.32 for Philip Bellenger, who had 444 acres, but his tax also included a tidy sum on personal goods.

The introduction states, "A list of persons liable to pay taxes in the Town of Danube, Herkimer County, and State of New York in the year one thousand (the way it's spelled!) eight hundred and fifty nine". We give only the names of these persons here, but if you are interested in the acreage or taxes of anyone on the list, "The Searcher" will be glad to supply the details.

FACING UP

SINCE its inception in January 1964, the Southern California Genealogical Society has made steady progress each year in membership and beneficial services, such as a steadily enlarged monthly "Searcher", from less than eight pages in 1964 to an average of sixteen pages in 1966; surname register increased from 3,500 to over 6,000 surnames; "Searcher" mailings to Genealogical Libraries and other Societies, from 150 to 275; and of greatest benefit, the establishment of our own well appointed Library, whose genealogical books, periodicals and other materials increase monthly, along with such new equipment as the photocopier, the microcard reader, new files, electric typewriter, and other items. All these have provided increased helpful service for the membership.

This expansion, naturally, has been accompanied by increased expenses of more paper, which has increased in price, more postage, especially for the enlarged annual Yearbook, and the total cost of all the new equipment. Nevertheless, the basic membership fee has been held to our original annual rate of $5.00. It is our hope that we can continue to expand our services in the future as part of our fundamental "growth program". To do so, and avoid an operating deficit, however, requires a change in our Yearbook policy.

At its January 19th meeting, the Board of Directors voted the following fees, effective March 1, 1967, for new memberships and renewals:

Annual Dues (Including all membership privileges, monthly "Searcher", Library facilities, etc.)	$5.00
---	--------

1967 Yearbook (Pub. early in 1968. (See page 28)	1.50
	$ 6.50

Extra copies of the Annual Yearbook for 1965, '66, '67:

Effective March 1, 1967	Members . . . $2.00 Others 3.00

Members who wish to purchase additional 1965 Yearbooks, now in limited supply, should do so before March 1st.
