To the Public.

The Morris Fair Association issues in this book its twenty-fifth annual premium list, to which your attention is invited. Twenty-four years ago its first exhibition was held. The Fair was a success from the start, and in no year has it taken a backward step. It has always paid its premiums in full in cash. The premiums offered on Cattle, Sheep, Swine and Horses now aggregate over $2,200.00, and the same liberal increase obtains in all other departments, as will be seen by reading the following pages. It will be noticed that but few changes have been made from last year, but those made have tended to still further increase the amount of the premium list. For instance, in the class for Horses have been added first, second and third premiums for carriage horses, both teams and single drivers, competing separately from road or farm divisions.

No effort will be spared on the part of the managers of the Fair to make the coming Exhibition interesting and attractive to all classes. A pure and wholesome place for old and young; free from immoral and indecent shows, gamblers and dishonest fakirs. If any of these things are discovered on the grounds they will be promptly ejected, and the public is asked to co-operate with the officers in keeping the grounds free from such things, by reporting to the President, Superintendent or Secretary whoever is found on the grounds swindling the people. Our Fair is the pride of the Butternut valley and its reputation is widespread. Our object is to add to its high character, and this can best be accomplished by your continued generous support and co-operation in response to our continued liberality.

The policy of the Society has always been a liberal one. Competition is open to all and no per cent. is charged exhibitors. The amounts offered in premiums are large and well worth striving for. The grounds are conveniently and pleasantly located, and the accommodations ample and particularly adapted to the uses of both the exhibitor and visitor. Rearrangement of many of the buildings is being made and large additions to others for the comfort of the public. Each department is under the supervision of a competent superintendent, and every courtesy and convenience possible will be extended to all. The pages of the premium list will show the liberal spirit that prevails to attract exhibitors in bringing to every department the products of their labor and skill.

The Officers and Directors, in recognition of the loyal support so long and so generously given the Association by the people, beg to acknowledge their obligations and to ask a continuance of favor and patronage, assuring all that we shall use our best endeavors to give a better Fair this year than ever before. Although we lay much stress on the fact, the Morris Fair is pre-eminently an Agricultural Industrial Exhibition, designed for the farmer and his family in what pertains to their advancement and profit, we also recognize the fact that amusement and pleasure must not be lost sight of, and have therefore provided a line of special attractions to make a full program for each day.

People will be there who will expect to meet you there. Don't disappoint them.

Important to Exhibitors.

Entries will positively close as follows: For Floral Hall, Tuesday, Sept. 24th, at 9 o'clock p. m., and for Cattle, Sheep, Swine and Poultry, Saturday, Sept. 28th, at 9 o'clock p. m. Entries of Horses, the Races, and the Baby Show will be taken at any time before they are exhibited.

No new lists of entries will be taken after the above dates; all will be treated alike. Corrections will be made on lists already made, when desired; and a limited number of additions taken.

Make out your list of entries on the blank accompanying this book, and mail to the Secretary, being careful to get the classes and divisions to compare with the Premium Book.

On account of our large number of entries the Association will not accept exhibits unless they are accompanied by the exhibitor or his agent.

Exhibitors need not purchase tickets until they come to the Fair, unless they get their tags before.

Class Thirteen—LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

No duplicate entries received in this Department. All articles entered for premium must have been made since last Fair. The Secretary will not take entries of old articles offered for premiums. Any articles of like nature, but not enumerated below, may be entered in this Department, and the Judges will have jurisdiction over the awarding of premiums. No articles that have been purchased or borrowed may be entered, nor any that have received first premium at any former Fair held by this Association. The Association will withhold all premiums awarded such articles. All work exhibited in this Department must be finished to receive a premium.

Judges in this Class must state the amount of discretionary premium awarded, which must not exceed the second premium on like articles named in the list. The amount must be marked in the Judge's book.

Sold in Morris by C. H. Lawrence. Canandaigua, N. Y.

To Superintendents and Exhibitors.

1. The Association will hold its twenty-fifth annual Fair on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 1, 2 and 3, 1901. The forenoon of the first day will be devoted to delivering entry tags and correcting entries by the Secretaries, and the placing of exhibits. The gates will be opened to the public at 10 a. m. for the remainder of that day and the two following days, by payment of the usual fees.

2. The General Superintendent will have charge of the grounds and see that the police and superintendents properly discharge their respective duties. The superintendents of departments will have charge of their respective departments and see that everything is properly arranged. They must accompany the Judges and point out to them the articles entered for competition. They must also ascertain if Judges are in any way interested in the classes they are to judge. They must also call the attention of Judges to the "Notice to Judges," printed in this book. Superintendents must report for duty at 8 a. m. on the first day of the Fair.

3. All entries of stock, to secure proper arrangement and classification, must be registered with the Secretary, naming the breed to which it belongs.

4. All animals designed for exhibition, excepting horses, must be assigned a place on the grounds by 10 o'clock a. m. of the second day.

5. All animals and articles entered for premiums must belong to the person making the entry, and when there is more than one owner, each owner must possess an exhibitor's ticket. No animal or article will be examined by the Judges unless it has a card attached, showing the class and number of the entry. Tags will be furnished exhibitors by the Secretary upon application.

6. No name must appear attached to any article competing for premium. A written statement, if asked for, must be given, particularly of the manufacture of butter and cheese, the number of cows, help, etc.

7. Anything entered for competition must possess real merit to secure a premium, though there be no other entries.

8. The Association will not be responsible for any loss that may occur by theft or otherwise. Every precaution will be taken to insure the safety of all articles and animals on exhibition.

9. The Association reserves the right to withhold premiums in every case in which it shall appear to the Board of Directors that the regulations have not been complied with, or that fraud and deception have been practised.

10. No stock will be received upon the grounds until the first day of the Fair, without an order from the President.

11. No premiums will be paid until after the second Saturday in October.

12. Premiums not claimed before January succeeding the annual Fair, will be considered forfeited to the Association.

13. Should the Association's funds be insufficient to pay the premiums, they may be paid pro rata.

14. Entries will positively close as follows: In Floral Hall Tuesday, Sept. 24th, at 9 o'clock p. m.; on Cattle, Sheep, Swine and Poultry, Saturday, Sept. 28th, at 9 o'clock p. m. Entries for Horses and Babies will be taken at any time before they are shown, the third day at 10 a. m.

Rules and Regulations.

An exhibitor's ticket costs one dollar, and enables the purchaser to enter articles and animals for premiums.

An exhibitor's ticket will entitle the purchaser to two single admission tickets, which will be taken up at the gate; also, the admission of himself and team to the grounds during the Fair. All other admissions must be by single tickets, which must be given up at the gates. Single ticket, 25c; vehicle, 25c, and each person in the vehicle, 25c. Children under ten years of age, free.

No help tickets will be issued. The Society pays liberal cash premiums and exhibitors must get their exhibits on themselves. Help tickets have principally gone into the hands of boys, and then been transferred to the damage of the Society.

Pursuant to an act passed March 7, 1864, tickets transferred will be forfeited; and persons transferring their tickets or unlawfully gaining admission to the grounds of the Association, will be promptly arrested and punished, by fine or imprisonment in the county jail.

Notice to Judges.

1. Judges will meet at the Secretary's office at 10 o'clock on the second day of the Fair, except in those classes where a different time is mentioned in the Premium Book, and receive their class books and proceed at once to their duties.

2. Judges are requested to make their reports to the Secretary as soon as possible.

3. Judges must not award premiums in any case where the article exhibited is not deemed worthy of it. The first article marked first premium in the Judge's book will receive the award, and other articles of the same kind marked first premium will be stricken out, except when allowed in the list, by which the Judges must be guided; when in doubt, consult the Secretary.

4. No person will be allowed to interfere with the Judges during their adjudication; and any person who, by letter or otherwise, attempts to interfere with them, will be excluded from competition.

5. Judges may make written reports, giving reasons for their decisions, or make special mention of any article or animal worthy of special notice.

6. Persons will not be allowed to act as judge in any class in which they have anything entered for premium; if they should, the Society may withhold their premium.

7. Vacancies caused by Judges failing to appear when their names are called, will be filled by the Executive Committee.

8. No article shall compete for more than one premium.

9. It is expected that Judges will carefully examine their report, with the assistance of the entry clerk, on returning it to the Secretary's office, and correct any errors that may appear therein, to avoid annoyance which is often caused by the duplication of premiums.

10. In making their awards Judges must be governed by the printed instructions and Premium List, and if not satisfied in regard to the entries they must apply to the Secretary, or the Superintendent of their department for information.

11. Judges will be given a free pass to the Fair, and be paid 25 cents an hour for their work.

12. Judges in Floral Hall will apply to the Superintendent of the Hall for their badges, which must be returned at the close of the Fair.

13. Persons who are named for Judges and who do not intend to serve, will please notify the Secretary.

14. Judges must sign their awards.

Cattle, Horses, Sheep, Swine and Poultry will be judged by experts in their line of work. All other divisions have home judges.
