OF INTEREST TO MORRIS PEOPLE.

P. D. Foote is in New York attending the Masonic Grand Lodge.

Springtime has been a long time coming, and was never more welcome.

C. H. Millard has put up a neat new sign over the front of his feed and flour store.

Mrs. Chas. Lawrence, milliner, of this village goes to Burlington Flats once in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Matteson of Oneonta visited Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Carpenter Sunday and Monday.

The memorial sermon to Kilder Post will be preached this year by Rev. W. J. Tower at the Baptist church May 25th.

While the Methodist people at Gilbertsville are without a pastor, Rev. M. H. Reid of Morris preaches every Sunday afternoon.

Miss Katherine Ragan of Binghamton is here with her sister, Mrs. C. D. Winton, called here by the death of Daniel C. Winton.

Highway Commissioner Baulf is pushing along rapidly the work on the town roads. That is as rapidly as the weather permits.

Farmers are wondering if they are not entitled to some settled weather after waiting all these days over an unusually late spring.

Mrs. D. I. Laurence has had a neat woven wire fence put up along her property on Church street, from I. C. Carey's to Mr. Wilcox's.

A daughter was born April 29th to Mr. and Mrs. George Dockstader (nee Myrtle Phillips) of West Burlington, formerly of Morris.

Frank Isbell has recently added to his lively pair of handsome chestnut horses unusually well-matched and apparently a fine driving team.

L. H. Chase was in Morris last week, taking a few orders and preparing to resume the putting down of cement walks this season in this village.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hunt were called to Brookfield last Thursday to attend the funeral of Frank York, aged 24 years, a nephew of Mrs. Hunt.

Mrs. Anna Van Deuson, a former pupil of the Morris High School has a position as stenographer in New York city. Her address is 411 West 21st street.

There are some people in this village who think their acts are covered over by the darkness of night, who are playing to much larger audiences than they are aware of.

Ora Murdock, son of Andrew Murdock of Hyde Park, well known in Morris, where he has numerous relatives, has entered the employ of the Cooperstown National Bank.

Edwin S. Watson and wife spent last week Monday and Tuesday in Morris. They were on their way to Edmeston where on May 1st they took possession of the Rutherford house in that village.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cook and Mrs. Walter A. Cook registered at the Gardner house over Sunday night. They were driving from the Catskills through their home at Thornbrook Hall, Norwich.

The office and barroom of the Gardner house were repainted last week. We understand Mr. Gardner will have a cement walk put down in front of his house this season. Mr. Gardner became proprietor of this hotel 35 years ago this week.

The Morris High School and the Oneonta High School ball teams will play ball on the Morris Fair grounds on Tuesday afternoon, May 14th, at 3:30 o'clock. Turn out and encourage the boys with your presence. No admission charged.

The supply of eggs this season is an enormous one and they accumulate in the hands of our buyers faster than they can be crated and shipped. Yet the price is 16 and 17c. It will probably go no lower.

We have received the following inquiry from "A Subscriber," and pass it on for answer:

"Can you tell me thro your paper if there was a pottery ever in Butternuts? I have an old piece of blue china with 'Butternuts, N. Y.," stamped on it.

Wesley Moffatt, who moved from his farm into the village this spring, sold the farm, which consists of 60 acres, to Edgar Harris last week. Consideration $1,400. This farm adjoins fifty acres which Mr. Harris purchased a few years ago.

The following persons attended from out of town the funeral of Mrs. L. P. Carpenter last Friday: C. L. Whitcomb and wife and Joseph Bros, wife and son Richard of Oneonta; Merritt Clark and wife of Laurens and W. B. Carpenter of Deposit.

If reports are true that come to this office, a man named Swackhamer, living on the Henderson farm, west of Dimmock Hollow, ought to be visited by White Caps. He may abuse his family and keep out of reach of the law unless they complain, but he isn't out of the reach of indignant neighbors. The reports may not be true.

Mrs. Lee Sutherland went to Sidney last week, called there by the serious condition of her uncle, E. J. Potter, who was suffering from a stroke of paralysis. He was at work in the cemetery near that village April 27th; when he sustained the first shock and that evening he had another and was again attacked the next day. At last reports Mr. Potter was gaining a little. Mrs. Sutherland returned home on Sunday.

Several cars of potatoes were shipped from Otsego last week, for which the shipper, W. J. Harris, paid 45c a bushel.

OBITUARY.

Emeline Whitcomb Carpenter.

Born in Laurens, August 15, 1828. Died in Morris, April 28, 1907.

After being confined to her bed for three months, a large part of the time a great sufferer, the mother of the proprietors of the CHRONICLE closed her eyes in earthly sleep to open them in the life eternal and herself to join the many of her kindred and loved ones gone before.

Emeline Whitcomb was born in Laurens, the second daughter of David E. Whitcomb and Harriet Gilbert. She was married to Leman P. Carpenter of Cooperstown in 1850. In the winter of 1852-3 they moved to Oneonta, where Mr. Carpenter established the Oneonta Herald. Here they lived until 1869, when they moved to Morris, where her husband bought the CHRONICLE, and this has been her home since. Mr. Carpenter died in January, 1899. She was baptized into the membership of the Baptist denomination in Laurens in her youth and had ever lived a consistent Christian life. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon at the church, her pastor, Rev. W. J. Tower officiating. Two of her six children survive her, also a brother, C. L. Whitcomb, and two sisters, Miss Juliana Whitcomb and Mrs. Lucy Gardner of Oneonta.

We laid our aged mother away last Friday amid a wealth of beautiful flowers, the kind gifts of thoughtful and sympathetic friends, arranged with loving hands. It was a beautiful afternoon; birds were singing, the spring sun was shining, new life was being brought to shrub and flower, and plant and tree; but death was present, too, and we left all that was earthly of our mother sleeping beside her husband and the children long ago taken from her loving hands and wondering gentle. All her life, submissive and always gentle, the question never left her, Why? But she lived a life of faith, and now that question has been answered; she has joined that large circle of her kindred—"Hope has changed to glad fruition, faith to sight and prayer to praise." She was a good mother, a faithful wife, an unselfish self-sacrificing home-maker, a gentle Christian woman. Knowing her as we did—and memories of her as mother run back near fifty years—we can truthfully say of her: "She hath done what she could."

Daniel C. Winton.

Daniel C. Winton died at his home in this village on Saturday night, May 4th, 1907, at 11:30 o'clock, aged 70 years, after a long and painful illness with rheumatism and heart disease. He was born in Morris, a son of Zee Winton, a pioneer of this vicinity, and has always resided here. About 1860 he married Miss Emma Cooley of Oxford, who survives him with two daughters, Mrs. Winnie Warner of this village, and Mrs. Stewart Millard of Laurens, and one son, Chester D. Winton, car starter in the employ of the Binghamton Street Railway Co., and also one brother, Amasa Winton, of this village. Mr. Winton was a veteran of the Civil War and one of the promoters of Geo. Kilder Post G. A. R. of Morris and always an active member. He had been a justice of the peace of this town for 35 years, and was re-elected at the last town meeting. He had been a member of the Board of Education for over 30 years and was always interested in the cause of education, having been a teacher in his young manhood. For twenty-five years he had been secretary of the Morris Fair and much of its success has been due to his efforts. In all these positions Mr. Winton will be missed very much. He had also filled the office of justice of sessions or side judge at Cooperstown, an office now abolished, and for a number of years he was postmaster here. He was a member of Zion Episcopal church and from that church his funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2:15 p. m., the services at the cemetery to be in charge of Kilder Post.

He was a man greatly beloved in his family and was ever an indulgent father and the ties between him and his children were unusually tender. He was faithfully cared for during all the days and weeks of his illness, and during the past winter, with a full knowledge of the immediate ending of all things earthly he has ever been cheerful and retained his ability to transact the business for the town and the Fair up to two weeks ago; and kept fully informed and interested in the events of the world especially politically. He has ever been an ardent Republican and a leading party worker of the town. Mr. Winton was a writer for newspapers of considerable repute and has done his part to keep his town before the public view. He had a wide acquaintance through his position as Secretary of the Fair and will be greatly missed by hundreds of people. Mr. Winton has been a useful citizen in this town and we could better have spared others than he.

Mary, wife of John Hoffman, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. D. Tuttle, in Norwich, last week. She was 76 years of age and was born at Stamford, Delaware county. She was married in 1851 to John Hoffman, and for many years they lived at Morris. They removed to Norwich in 1891, where they have since resided. She is survived by her aged husband, four daughters, Mrs. Hattie Graves of Oneonta; Mrs. Charles Craft of Richfield Springs; Mrs. R. D. Tuttle and Miss Fannie Hoffman of Norwich; and by three sons, Sherwood Hoffman of Herkoning; and George and Charles Hoffman of Gilbertsville.

The Morris High School challenge the town-pupils to a game of baseball to be played on Wednesday of this week at 3:30. Will some one kindly answer this challenge and act as captain of the town team? HOWARD KNIGHT, Capt.

Utica's population is now estimated as 64,000. In 1890 it was 44,007. In 1900 it was 56,383. Of late Utica has been growing faster proportionately than Syracuse.

At Ithaca, in the three days preceding the Easter vacation, a single pawnbroker loaned 227 students $6,540 to enable them to reach their respective homes.

James M. Glass, principal of the Sidney high school for five years, has declined a re-election for another year. It is reported that eleven other teachers have followed his example.

Charles Bronner of Cooperstown, aged 20 years, has been taken to the Binghamton State hospital. He is suffering from the delusion that he is being followed for persecution.

Fred Silvey, highway commissioner of Butternuts, has resigned to accept a position with the contractors building the State road between Gilbertsville and Mt. Upton. His successor is Milo Post.

The plant of the Acme Road Machine Company of Frankfort was totally destroyed by fire last Friday night. The loss on stock and equipment was $200,000. This does not include the building.

Trainman James Graham was run over and instantly killed in the Oneonta yard last Saturday afternoon. He was 36 years old and leaves a wife and two young children.

Augustus Jennings, a farmer of Vellonia Springs, near Afton, was crushed to death beneath a tree he was falling in the woods, April 30. He was running from it with an axe in his hand as it fell and was caught in the branches. His axe was driven into his head.

Two years ago the hamlet of Index, four miles below Cooperstown, was a thriving community, where neither house-rent nor board could be secured. Now, an exchange says that every one of its nineteen houses is vacant and the whole thing is for rent.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Ford and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Blakely of Oneonta and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Reynolds of Los Angeles, Cal., will leave New York June 29th on the White Star steamer Canopia for a tour of Europe. They will be absent about three months.

Last Tuesday, because he feared that he had killed his wife, of whom he was jealous, Olin Wright of Cooperstown, 46 years old, a ne'er-do-well, rushed from his home, after knocking his wife senseless with a sharp instrument, to a shed half a mile away and hung himself. His wife soon recovered from her husband's assault, being at no time in any great danger of death.

Charles Swackhamer, who lives half-way between Morris and South New Berlin, was arrested yesterday and brought into justice's court on a warrant charged with assault upon his wife. The information was furnished by his mother-in-law and corroborated. He and his wife both pronounced the charge false. Witnesses will be subpoenaed and the case will come to trial at the Town House next Saturday.

CARELESS WITH MONEY.

The eccentricities of the late Dr. William B. Crain, of Richfield Springs, in financial matters were well known during his life time. Many people well-to-do, who never allowed a bill to run, were unable to get a bill from the doctor for his services and in consequence many accounts had run over twenty or thirty years. In looking over his effects many unopened letters were found, several of them containing good sized checks, and something like $5,000 in checks were found. There was also a large roll of bills apparently uncounted, discovered in an old safe in the barn. There were also three trunks full of presents he had received, consisting of almost every imaginable article and many of them very valuable. Then there was a large stack of notes, many of them outlawed, and mortgages too numerous to mention.

Walk-Over Shoe

For Men and Women

The prices of Walk-Over Shoes are $3.50 and $4.00.
