

Special Session Call On Neutrality Hinted If War Peril Rises

By JOHN C. O'BRIEN

Continued From First Page
far more perturbed about the neutrality defeat than about the loss of his monetary control powers, which Administration leaders believed would be only temporary.

The New Deal managers in the Senate continued confident that they would have the votes next Wednesday to adopt the conference report which would continue the President's power to devalue the dollar, restore the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, and continue the Treasury's purchases of foreign and domestic silver at a price of 71 cents, instead of at the former price of 64.64 cents an ounce.

SURE OF LEGALITY

The President was said to be undisturbed by the contention of Republicans and many parliamentarians that the attempted extension of the monetary control powers, after their expiration at midnight last Friday, would be of questionable legality. His fears on that score, it was said, had been set to rest by the opinion of Attorney General Frank Murphy that the monetary powers could be so extended.

You've hit your inner stride

... when you regain healthy peristalsis

You swing along, carefree as a summer day... there's easy balance in every motion, once you hit your inner stride!

This inner stride depends on a motion within the intestines known as peristalsis. When peristalsis is healthy, your intestines contract... expand... in steady rhythm. When it's off-stride, you're apt to suffer constipation, heaviness.

What's often needed is a thorough, gentle, flushing-out... to make healthy elimination possible. You'll find Eno an answer to this need!

Eno has fluid-action
When you take Eno in water moisture from other parts of the body is brought down to the intestines where extra fluid is wanted. This fluid-action... plus a mild stimulation... quickly flushes out waste. Now healthy peristalsis has a chance to start again. You're ready to hit your stride once more!

Remember: Eno "alkalizes"
You can also rely on Eno to help neutralize excess stomach acids—a real "plus" value. And Eno sparkles, is delightful to take!

Off-stride? Discover what Eno's fluid-action can do to bring relief, swing and freedom back. Get Eno now at any drug store.

THE FLUID-ACTION LAXATIVE THAT ALKALIZES
ENO
OPEN EVERY NIGHT
1907 Market St., Philadelphia 19106
7643 Carroll Road, Upper Merion
500 Broadview, Car. Penn., Camden

Even though the coalition of Senate Republicans and conservative Democrats should defeat the conference monetary report, Administration leaders felt the President would not be in a bad way.

It would not be difficult, they point out, to recreate the stabilization fund to which no opposition was expressed in either branch of Congress, and should the necessity arise for further devaluation of the dollar, this could be accomplished by an act of Congress.

PERIL IS FEARED

But the failure of Congress to enact a satisfactory Neutrality Act would create what the Administration supporters called a "perilous situation for American neutrality."

So far as could be learned the Administration leaders had thought of no other branch of Congress, beyond the intimation that a special session might have to be called in the event of an emergency. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, having expressed his dismay, planned no new conferences with the Congressional leaders.

MAY CONCUR IN BILL

As the situation stood it appeared more likely that the Senate would concur in the House neutrality bill, including the amendment for a mandatory embargo on lethal weapons only, than that it would vote for the full lifting of the embargo.

SUPPORTERS CONFIDENT

The Senate will vote by unanimous consent agreement on the conference monetary report not later than 5 P. M. Wednesday. Although the Administration supporters in charge of the report were openly confident of victory, opponents of the measure were unwilling to hazard a prediction as to the outcome of the vote.

Senator Alva B. Adams (D., Colo.), who represents a silver State and who voted against continuing the dollar devaluation powers, said he thought the Senate was so closely divided that he would just as soon have a bet either way.

LENDING BILL DELAYED

In the light of the rebellion of last Friday and Saturday morning, Administration leaders began to wonder what sort of a reception Congress would give the President's proposed $3,800,000,000 lending program.

Legislation providing for the lending of some $370,000,000 of the huge authorization was to have been introduced this week, in the Senate by Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley (Ky.) and in the House by Rep. Henry B. Steagall (D., Ala.).

Rayburn said today, however, that he had no idea when the bill would be ready. It was learned that the bill was being carefully re-drawn and all controversial items eliminated, such as the provision for loans to foreign countries and loans for toll roads and bridges.

Any WATCH REPAIRED $1.50 COMPLETE
Your watch cleaned, repaired, completely reworked, parts replaced, and this low price...
LAPPIN'S
OPEN EVERY NIGHT
1907 Market St., Philadelphia 19106
7643 Carroll Road, Upper Merion
500 Broadview, Car. Penn., Camden

It was early in the morning when they brought Connie Mack home from Boston on a stretcher. But it wasn't too early for some of his friends to be on hand at North Philadelphia Station when the train pulled in. Here the 76-year-old manager of the Athletics is being removed to an ambulance for the last lap of the journey.

How Congressmen From This Area Voted On Important Legislation Last Week

Inquirer Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The vote by delegations from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware on important roll call votes during the last week is given in the following tabulation:

THE SENATE

On motion of Senator Alva Adams (D., Colo.) to amend H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, to terminate the power of the President to further devalue the dollar, which carried by a vote of 47 yeas to 31 nays with 18 not voting.

On motion of Senator Alben W. Barkley (D., Ky.) demanding the year and nays on final passage of H. Res. 326, the bill making appropriations for work relief, relief and loans for public works projects for the fiscal year 1940, which carried by a vote of 55 yeas to no nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Senator James Byrnes (D., S. C.) to pass an amended committee amendment to H. R. 326, a bill making appropriations for work relief, relief and loans for public works projects for the fiscal year of 1940, which would require that States and political subdivisions put up not less than 25 per cent. of the total cost of non-Federal projects to be undertaken after January 1, 1940, which carried by a vote of 51 yeas to 24 nays, with 21 not voting.

On motion of Senator Joseph Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a record vote on the adoption of the special rule sending H. R. 3325, the Monetary bill, to conference and disagreeing to the Senate amendments stripping the President of his powers to devalue the dollar and fixing the price of domestic silver. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 209 yeas to 161 nays, with 50 not voting, and two answering "present."

On motion of Congressman Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) demanding a yeas and nays vote on the motion to agree to the conference report on H. R. 3325, the monetary bill, which report was agreed to by a vote of 229 yeas to 169 nays, with 41 not voting.

On motion of Congressman John M. Vorys (D., O.) to H. Res. 306, the Neutrality Act, providing for an embargo on arms, which carried by a vote of 214 yeas to 173 nays with 42 not voting and 1 answering "present."

On motion of Congressman George Holden Tinkham (R., Mass.) to recommit the Neutrality Bill to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, which was defeated by a vote of 194 yeas to 40 not voting and 1 answering "present."

MACK COMES HOME; DOCTOR IS HOPEFUL

Found Suffering From Old Gall Bladder Ailment

By CY PETERMAN
Continued From First Page

minor skin bruise during one of the last training camp games, again after the 1000-mile journey to the border in San Antonio; on Saturday night from the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston, and here.

After a day of sleep in the second floor bedroom where the gritty veteran and founder of the Athletics once before battled his way back to health, he was examined by the doctor and Roy Mack, the eldest son and vice president of the A's, was encouraged by the report.

"Dad talked to me a little while ago and I think he is a whole lot better," he said. "We think he will improve rapidly now that he's home and expect he may be up and around the house in a couple of days.

"The family is not worried and the doctor is encouraged. We all feel fine at his progress."

CALLS POUR IN

Nevertheless there were anxious calls by old friends—Connie has so many that long ago he gave up sending Christmas greetings because of their number—and when anyone came up the shady walk one of the daughters, Mary, came to the door to say he was asleep.

The attack was first thought to be indigestion, and the family recalled how after directing the A's through that tempestuous double-header at Shibe Park Wednesday, Connie was eager to hear reports from the Louisville Galento fight and ate heartily before going to the station to entrain for Boston.

"He ate quite a bit that evening, which might have brought on the trouble," Roy recalled, for Connie was in distress before the train arrived at Back Bay station. He proceeded at once to the hotel and did not leave the room while Earle, his second son, handled the club and later took it to Washington.

Dr. Eddie O'Brien, Red Sox team physician, went into consultation and advised quiet when the patient ran a slight fever. Saturday morning was deemed safe to move him home, although considerable secrecy still shrouded the actions.

DOCTOR CALLED

At 10 A. M. yesterday Dr. Langdon visited Mr. Mack, and prescribed. Undoubtedly the same diet that helped him two years ago will be invoked, although in that long siege Connie's weight dropped to 135 pounds. Not until the Athletics went into training at Lake Charles did their leader return to normal weight, but once on the road back, Connie's amazing progress was as exciting as an old-time drive of his team toward the top.

At that time, on the rare occasions when he discussed the convalescence, Connie told members of the A's party that he suffered extreme gastric distress throughout the illness and "sometimes felt as if I couldn't keep up the battle."

LESS PAIN NOW

The family said he was not in such pain on this occasion, however. Chosen by reason of his position as No. 1 leader in the game, Connie was forced to resign management of the American League All-Stars in the forthcoming "Dream Game" July 11 in New York, and before leaving Boston so notified Will Harridge, president of the league.

Joe McCarthy, boss of the World Champion Yankees, who as last pennant winning manager normally would have been named, was then appointed.

Once recovered from the previous illness, Mr. Mack's old interest returned in the game he helped develop and which this season is marking the 100th anniversary of its birth. He assumed active charge of the A's the spring of 1938, and this year, after a straggle start and injuries which prevented the full lineup taking the field, gathered enough youngsters to remain in sixth place.

Although admitting it is much harder to cry on now than in 1910-14 or even 1929-31 when his teams won pennants in clusters, Connie's last ambition is to fashion another championship ball club. At a birthday celebration he once said he wouldn't consider retiring until 80 years old.

In the 38 years of American League campaigning this seems won by days and five World's championships. In that time Connie has not only outlived most of his managing contemporaries, but also a great many of his star players. Yet he has missed comparatively few of his team's games, good weather and bad, and no matter what the score, sticks to the finish, wiggling the traditional scoreboard to the last bitter out.

OBITUARY

H. G. Peddle Dies At Wenonah Home
Henry G. Peddle, former head of a Philadelphia wholesale grocery firm, died yesterday at his home in Wenonah, N. J.

At the time of his retirement in 1928, he was president of J. Frank Shub and Co., wholesale grocers, at 14 S. Front st., this city. He was a member of the Union League, the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the State of New Jersey, the Woodbury Country Club and past president of the Wholesale Grocers Golf Association.

He is survived by his wife, Laura, a son, Frank S., of Drexel Park, Pa., and two grandsons. Funeral services will be held at 3 P. M. Thursday at his home, Mantua and Clinton aves., Wenonah. Burial will be private.

Crash With Trolley Brings Man Triple Woe

Troubles came triple to Walter C. Toppel, 32, of Royersford, Montgomery county, when his car and a Route 33 trolley collided early yesterday at 22d st. and the Parkway.

First, his companion, Miss Ruth Wentzel, 23, of Royersford, suffered head injuries requiring treatment at Hahnemann Hospital. Then police found a 32 calibre pistol in the glove compartment of his car, and Magistrate William Hess, in a hearing at the 50th st. and Lancaster ave. police station, held him in $1000 bail for court on charges of assault and battery by automobile, and violation of the Withers Firearms Act.

Paul W. Keller, of the trolley, Green la., motorist of the trolley, was held by Magistrate Hess in $1000 bail on a charge of assault and battery by trolley.

Plans for a taxpayer's suit to halt the installation of parking meters in the 69th st. section and to bring about an investigation of the manner in which the contracts were let were rapidly taking shape in Upper Merion twp. last night.

A group of taxpayers already has retained counsel, it was learned, and plans are afoot to file suit in the Delaware County Courts at Media.

On the one hand, temporary injunction will be sought to restrain the township commissioners from setting up any more posts for meters. On the other hand the courts will be asked to direct a probe of the situation by the District Attorney's office.

Principal irritant is the claim that the commissioners bought the meters from the three highest bidders, although the parking machines are said to be identical in their operation, with only minor mechanical differences. Six hundred meters already have been purchased, it is understood.

Highest bid was $65 for each machine, plus $4 for installation, freight and delivery charges. Lowest bid was $29.95 plus the same $4 charge. Posts to hold the meters already have been placed and the meters are scheduled for placement this week.

Phila. Builder Heads Farm School Alumni

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., July 2.—Benjamin Goldberg, Philadelphia contractor, today was elected president of the National Farm School Alumni Association at the 39th annual meeting.

He succeeds Harry H. Rubenstein, of Philadelphia, who served two terms and was not a candidate for re-election. Goldberg defeated Samuel Hausman, of New York City. Other officers elected are: Vice presidents, Joseph Stringer, of Newtown; Harry Krisher, of New York City, and Archie Koff, of Atlantic City; secretary-treasurer, Samuel B. Samuels, of Farm School.

The alumni pledged support of the school's new president, Dr. Harold B. Allen.

2 Youths Steal Truck, Flee Prison Farm

Two young prisoners escaped from Broad Meadows Farm yesterday afternoon in a prison truck they later abandoned on Bridgetown rd., Middletown twp., Delaware county. The truck was found shortly after a checkup of men returning from the fields revealed the prisoners' absence.

The fugitives are Robert Jones, 18, of Chester, and Theodore McCauley, 18, of Swarthmore. Both were serving 12-month sentences. They were wearing regulation prison clothing and their descriptions were broadcast to the police of nearby counties.

Motorist Re-Arrested Following Man's Death

A motorist whose car struck a pedestrian on April 24 was re-arrested yesterday following the death of the pedestrian. Magistrate William Hess, in a hearing at the 55th and Pine st. police station, held the driver without bail for three counties.

The driver was Samuel O'Brian, 31, of Chester ave. near 42d st. His victim, Harry Graf, 40, of 1845 S. Conestoga st., died Saturday in Mercy Hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck at Woodland ave. and Conestoga st.

Store Owner Robbed While Wife Plays Cards

While his wife, Doris, played cards in an adjoining room, unaware of what was going on, Robert Powell, 22, was robbed of $10 and a watch early yesterday in his mother's delicatessen at 50th and Locust st.

Powell told police two men, one of them carrying a gun, had performed the robbery. The armed man pointed the gun in his ribs and warned him to "keep quiet," while the other picked up the money and took the watch from his wrist.

Girl Loses $10,000 Ring Off Finger on Auto Trip

Loss of a $10,000 diamond ring on the Black Horse pk. near Camden was reported to Chestnut Hill police last night by Hamilton D. Carpenter, of Meadowbrook.

Carpenter said the loss of the ring was discovered by his daughter, Marjorie, 15, as the family was returning from Atlantic City in their car. A thorough search of the automobile convinced them the ring must have dropped into the street from the girl's finger.

THIS LABEL PROMISES Fine Flavor!
Taste POTH'S just once and you will agree that the brew itself keeps the promise of the label.
POTH'S well-balanced flavor never varies in bottle, can or draft—that's why an increasing number of beer-drinkers prefer this brew. But—it will take your trial by taste to prove why the pleasing tang and rich goodness of POTH'S has earned it the reputation of "One of America's Finest Brews." Your distributor will supply you, or phone FREMONT 5400.
POTH'S BEER
SINCE 1870... ONE OF AMERICA'S FINEST BREWS

APPLICATION FOR ACCIDENT INSURANCE POLICY
And Subscription to the Daily Inquirer
The Philadelphia Inquirer makes available to its Home Delivery Subscribers and members of their families who reside in the same household a $10,000 Full-Coverage Accident Insurance Policy, issued by Federal Life Insurance Co., Chicago. NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION IS NECESSARY. One policy to a person, issued only to applicants over 10 and under 70 years of age. Mail this Coupon to The Philadelphia Inquirer. SEND NO MONEY. Authorize Carrier, who collects regularly for Insurance and Daily Inquirer. Insurance will lapse if subscription is stopped.
I hereby order the Daily Inquirer delivered to my home by Carrier six days a week, starting immediately, for which I agree to pay the regular weekly subscription rate plus 7c weekly for insurance.
I am a Home Delivery Subscriber and agree to continue my subscription and pay the additional 7c per week for insurance.
(PLEASE PRINT)
Your Name First Name Middle Name Last Name
Address Number Street Apt.
City State Phone
Your Age Date of Birth Month Day Year
Are you Blind or Deaf? Are you Crippled?
Name of Person to Whom Insurance is to be Paid in Case of Your Death: (Beneficiary)
First Name Middle Name Last Name Relationship
Applicant's Signature Sign to Date Hereafter

Emerson
Other Models From $19.95
The Friendly Store
726-28 MARKET ST.

FELT BASE RUGS
$3.49
KANN'S, 11th & Filbert
Phone 4711
Name
Address

OPENS CLOGGED SEWERS Without Digging
Sharp revolving steel cutting blades remove roots or debris.
ELECTRIC SEWER SERVICE CO.
405 S. 42nd Street
BAR 2456 Day or Night

TAKE THE FAMILY Excursion
SUNDAY, JULY 9
WASHINGTON $3.00
BALTIMORE $2.75
From Wagon Junction 25c additional in Wagon Junction. 7:45 A.M. or 8:47 A.M. to 2:45 & Chestnut St. 8:02 A.M. or 10:17 A.M.
Standard Time Shown. For other details, get a copy of the Family Excursion Guide at Wagon Junction 4500 or Pennsylvania 1700

Motorist Re-Arrested Following Man's Death
A motorist whose car struck a pedestrian on April 24 was re-arrested yesterday following the death of the pedestrian. Magistrate William Hess, in a hearing at the 55th and Pine st. police station, held the driver without bail for three counties.

Store Owner Robbed While Wife Plays Cards
While his wife, Doris, played cards in an adjoining room, unaware of what was going on, Robert Powell, 22, was robbed of $10 and a watch early yesterday in his mother's delicatessen at 50th and Locust st.

Girl Loses $10,000 Ring Off Finger on Auto Trip
Loss of a $10,000 diamond ring on the Black Horse pk. near Camden was reported to Chestnut Hill police last night by Hamilton D. Carpenter, of Meadowbrook.